There are legends which claim that the first one was made by a cook in the 1600's. However, it was not until the 1900's, that the Sillybones of the world were created. John T. Barker of San Francisco created the first official form of the animal cracker. In 1917, he registered the name "Silly Bones" along with his recipe of the Silly Bones, thus was the Sillybone trademark created. The Silly Bones came to be as a result of a series of coincidences. First, during the tail end of the great depression, customers were making do with a little bit of money to spare, and the Bakers in San Francisco, were always making a lot of money. Therefore, they invented a number of "guesstimates" which allowed them to save money, which they would then put back into the business of making Silly
